

A steam locomotive is crossing a large, multi-arched stone viaduct over a body of water. The scene is set at sunset, with a bright sun on the right side of the frame, casting a warm glow over the water and the structure. The sky is a mix of deep blue and orange. The viaduct has several large arches, and the locomotive is positioned on the top of the structure, moving from left to right. The water below is dark, reflecting the light from the sky and the structure.

Great Northern
&
Southern Rly. Co.

Cross the Channel on the Night Sleeper Express

Departs Nightly From Waterloo at 7:00pm Arrives Paris at 10:00am Sharp

Full Restaurant Car Dinner and Breakfast Service